THIS "BRIDES" SCHOOL PROVES A SUCCESS

These Young Graduates of Home Management Course Win Proposals In Plenty

Chicago, June 1.—Do you want a bride who can cook and manage your house without ruining you financially?

Do you want a bride who dresses charmingly and converses intelligently in dulcet tones that fall pleasantly on the ear?

The June crop of this kind is now ready, and, although there were a few of them have already been grabbed, and the others won't last long.

If you are interested, see Miss Edith Aubrey at the West Side Y. W. C. A., whose "charm school" has just closed.

For four months 56 young women have been attending the school, whose curriculum states that it is a course in "trousseau suggestions and home management" but which has really been a course in getting a husband.

"I guess the school must have been a success," Miss Aubrey said at the graduation exercises last night. "Four new engagement rings have appeared in the last few days, and many rumors are afloat."

Miss Aubrey started the school because every girl "really expects to be married some time."

DRY RAID INTERRUPTS CHORUS GIRLS' REVELRY

Liquor, Valued At $70,000, Is Seized After An Exciting Skirmish In Worcester Hotel

Worcester, Mass., June 1.—Dry Supervisor William J. McCarthy and his assistants had one of the most exciting evenings of their rather hectic career when they swooped down on Paul McFale's Hotel last night just as a crowd of 150 men and women, including a group of chorus girls, were enjoying their drinks.

McCarthy, with a dozen of his assistants, marched into the dining-room at the psychological moment and put the party to rout. Tables were overturned and bottles were hurled to the floor in an attempt to destroy the evidence. There was a general mix-up in which it was hard to untangle the dry agents, the male guests and the chorus girls. Flare flew, and for a while it seemed as though nobody cared just where the blows landed.

The agents, however, managed to seize several bottles of liquor in the dining-room. They then searched the hotel, and declare they found about $70,000 worth, $60,000 of it in one room.

SUICIDES IN NATION IS ON INCREASE

New York, June 1.—Suicides are on the increase. The record, lowered during the war, is rising, according to the Rev. Harry M. Warren, president of the Save-a-Life league, which had more than 6,000 suicides brought to its attention during 1920, an increase of more than 1,000 over 1919. Suicides in the United States during 1920 are conservatively estimated at 12,000.

ESCAPES FOR 56 HOURS; THEN READY FOR HANGMAN

Woodstock, Ont., June 1.—Well, I guess, I'll hang, after all," Norman Garfield, condemned murderer, declared today as he sat in the death cell here, following 56 hours of liberty after a spectacular escape from jail.

Garfield who will hang next Thursday morning for the murder of Benjamin Johnson, fled from the jail after attacking the death watch and robbing him of his keys when the guard entered the cell for a hat left by the Rev. Mr. Gaetz.

The prisoner was recaptured in Stewarstown after he had traveled 10 miles in a stolen automobile and on foot. He was discovered by two women at the railroad station. J. A. Tracey, 60, husband of one of the women, aided by two men, captured him after a short struggle.

STATE NEWS BOILED DOWN

The preliminary hearing of John Lowellyn, charged with the murder of J. C. Brewer, cashier of the Citizens' State bank of Geronimo, was scheduled to open before Judge S. R. Harper, at Lawton, today. Three persons to date have been tried for the death of Brewer and two of them, E. M. Hamm and W. R. Baucum, have been sentenced to serve life terms in the state prison. The third person, Mrs. Lezora Kile, to stand trial, is now at liberty on bond pending another trial, the jury in her first trial being unable to reach an agreement on the verdict.

Longer loans to cattlemen of the southwest can be expected to be announced soon as a result of the visit of W. P. G. Harding, head of the federal reserve bank system to this section of the state recently, financial authorities predicted. In an interview while here, Harding, said that "since coming here I find that six months is too short a time for the cattle men to make a turn over to repay their loans." At present federal banks will not grant a loan for more than six months.

Twelve bridges will be built in Craig county this year, under present plans of the county board of commissioners. The cost of these structures will total about $700,000.

The largest class in the school's history is now enrolled at the summer school at the state normal school at Durant. The enrollment succeeded 1,169.

End is to have a new country club. The club's estate will cover 120 acres to the south of the city. An eighteen hole golf course will be laid out on the club's grounds, according to plans.

SCREEN CALENDAR

THE POLLARD
A big murder mystery story is the offering of Ned Pedigo to his patrons tonight, in "The Last Card" a first run picture. This picture is being shown in Guthrie for the first time in the state. It is sensational and gripping and full of real honest-to-goodness thrills. Don't miss it.

THE GEM
The humorous side of chicken farming is admirably pictured in Douglas MacLean's latest Paramount picture, "Chickens," which will be shown at the Gem Theatre tonight. Mr. MacLean has the role of a city chap, who has an idea that he can raise blooded fowl on egg plant exclusively, but who is finally undeceived, when his plans go awry. MacLean is admirably supported by Gladys George, and a cast which includes Charles Mallet, Al Pilon, Edith Yorke, and others equally well-known to picture followers.

THE HIGHLAND
Tonight Wm. S. Hart has the go at the Highland in "The Disciple." It is a wonderful well arranged plot and the play is smooth and intensely interesting. "Kids and Kidlets" is the comedy.

HONOR PUSHMATAHA, "WHITE MAN'S FRIEND"

Memorial Services At Washington For Chieftain Who Got Territory For Indians

Washington, June 1.—Memorial ceremonies were held today over the grave of Pushmataha, famous Choctaw chieftain, who is buried here in Congressional cemetery.

The services were attended by the entire Oklahoma delegation with the exception of Miss Robertson, who delivered a Memorial address at Uniontown, Pennsylvania.

Congressman Carter, president of the Pushmataha memorial society, presided and delivered the first speech. High tributes were paid to the Indian chieftain who was known as the white man's greatest friend among the Indians. He fought with General Andrew Jackson in the Creek wars and later in the battle of New Orleans, where he was made a brigadier general in the American army.

He negotiated the treaty which gave the territory of Oklahoma to the Indians in 1829, dying four years later in Washington.

THIS CHICAGO GIRL, 15, NEVER SAW RAIL TRAIN

Though She Lives In Heart of the City She's Been on Street Car Only Once

Chicago, June 1.—The Pearl street Y. W. C. A., on the west side, recently discovered a girl member, 15 years old, living only nine blocks from the heart of Chicago, who has never seen a railroad train, except in books, and has never been in the Loop. The discovery was made when Y. W. C. A. planned a summer camp in the woods. The girl is Dorothy Mallett, oldest of a family of five children.

"No, honest," she told interviewers, "I've never seen a railroad train. I've seen pictures of 'em in books, but never a regular one. There aren't any right around here, and I've never been over to any of the stations where they come in. I've never been in the Loop either. I've ridden on the 'L' several times, oh, six or seven, maybe. But only on the street car once, and."
